Pointed Note Suggested
British-Soviet Meeting
To Discuss MethodsBy Omer Anderson

BERLIN, June 3—(INS)—The British demanded bluntly today that the Russians lift their economic blockade of western sectors of Berlin.

The Soviet Command was requested to permit immediate motor traffic into the city and to set a date for resumption of rail movements.

A pointed note sent by British military governor, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, suggested a British-Soviet meeting to "discuss times and methods of reopening communications" with Soviet-encircled Berlin.

The Western zones of the four-power city have been supplied largely by air since the Soviets stepped up their offensive to drive the Western powers out. Allied air power appears to have met the challenge successfully.

An American spokesman said that the gigantic "Operations Vittles" soon will be "sufficient to feed the German population" of Western Berlin—numbering over 2,000,000.

But the Americans, British and French apparently do not intend to rely solely on air power to break the Soviet threat to the four-power occupation. The British note was believed in informed quarters to be the last Western attempt at settlement before a stiff three-power note is sent to the Kremlin.

Robertson dispatched the note to Soviet commander, Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky after a series of conferences with Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the American military governor, and Maj. Gen. Robert Noyes, the French representative in Berlin.

The protest to Moscow—reportedly drafted already—is expected to be dispatched if Sokolovsky refuses to meet Robertson or to allow road and rail traffic to and from the west to be restored.

(In London U. S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas continued discussions with British and French experts on the Berlin situation which was described by a British spokesman as "worsened" after the Russians formally quit the Berlin four-power Kommandatura.

(Secretary of State Marshall reiterated to a Washington news conference the American intention of staying in Berlin).

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The British Military Governor called yesterday on Soviet military authorities to open the highway to blockaded Berlin at once and to indicate when rail traffic to the city would be resumed. United States and British planes continued to pour supplies into the city. DOYLESTOWN, July 3—Highway accidents have caused property damage amounting to almost $158,000 in the last six months, resulted in the injury of 281 persons, and claimed the lives of 12 others. State police of the three barracks in this county recently released these figures.

That many drivers caught violating the motor vehicle code is shown by the fact that the 33 officers at the three stations made exactly 3,000 traffic arrests the first six months of the year.

According to reports from the barracks in Quakertown and Langhorne, there were fewer accidents the first six months of this year than during the corresponding period last year.

Cpl. Kenneth Stumpf, who has charge of the Quakertown barracks, reported a property loss the first six months of this year amounted to $11,801. He and his officers made 1,762 traffic arrests, and investigated 37 highway accidents.

During the corresponding period last year they investigated 123 accidents on highways. Six fatalities on highways were investigated the first six months of this year by the Quakertown officers. They arrested five motorists charged with driving while drunk and recovered one stolen car.

The Quakertown officers also made 17 criminal arrests, classified as follows: Involuntary manslaughter, 5; assault and battery, 1; larceny, 2; burglary, 1; contributing to the delinquency of a minor, 1; and disorderly conduct, 2. Sgt. Harry C. Bensinger, who is in charge of the Langhorne barracks, reported the troopers there made 738 arrests for violation of the motor vehicle code and investigated 185 accidents, in which 157 persons were hurt. During the corresponding six months last year, 142 traffic accidents were investigated.

As the result of accidents on highways, five persons were killed so far this year, and during the corresponding six months last year 13 persons lost their lives.

Dr. Harry L. Keil Gives
Talk on Plant Diseases

LANGHORNE, July 3—At the meeting of Middletown Grange, Wednesday evening, members of the Delaware Valley Grange, Fallstown, presented what is known as the "recording hand" program. Dr. Harry L. Keil, a representative of Rohm & Haas, Bristol, gave an interesting talk on plant diseases.

These program, which are endorsed by the State Grange, are similar in many respects to the traveling gavel programs. At these meetings the proceedings are recorded by the secretaries and later are reported at a meeting of another grange. Middletown Grange will present a report of this meeting at a meeting of Carversville Grange on August 9.

Discussing plant diseases, Dr. Keil explained that farming on a larger scale has a tendency to cause diseases to spread. He stated that plant diseases are spread by many agencies, chief of which is mold.

The most destructive disease among potatoes, he said, is the late blight. Bordeaux mixture, the members were told, serves as a very good control, but has one disadvantage because it clogs the nozzle of the sprayer.

Dr. Keil recommended a commercial insecticide, which he said, will control most plant disease if applied every five days.

Fruits are also subject to many diseases, and chief among these, said Dr. Keil, is the apple scab.

The program also included readings by Herman Heavener, Joseph Winder and Mrs. Joseph Winder.

BERLIN, June 3—(INS)—The British demanded bluntly today that the Russians lift their economic blockade of western sectors of Berlin.

The Soviet Command was requested to permit immediate motor traffic into the city and to set a date for resumption of rail movements.

A pointed note sent by British military governor, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, suggested a British-Soviet meeting to "discuss times and methods of reopening communications" with Soviet-encircled Berlin.

The Western zones of the four-power city have been supplied largely by air since the Soviets stepped up their offensive to drive the Western powers out. Allied air power appears to have met the challenge successfully.

An American spokesman said that the gigantic "Operations Vittles" soon will be "sufficient to feed the German population" of Western Berlin—numbering over 2,000,000.

But the Americans, British and French apparently do not intend to rely solely on air power to break the Soviet threat to the four-power occupation. The British note was believed in informed quarters to be the last Western attempt at settlement before a stiff three-power note is sent to the Kremlin.

Robertson dispatched the note to Soviet commander, Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky after a series of conferences with Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the American military governor, and Maj. Gen. Robert Norset, the French representative in Berlin.

The protest to Moscow—reportedly drafted already—is expected to be dispatched if Sokolovsky refuses to meet Robertson or to allow road and rail traffic to and from the west to be restored.

DOYLESTOWN, July 3—Highway accidents have caused property damage amounting to almost $158,000 in the last six months, resulted in the injury of 281 persons, and claimed the lives of 12 others. State police of the three barracks in this county, recently released these figures.

That many drivers caught violating the motor vehicle code is shown by the fact that the 33 officers at the three stations made exactly 3,000 traffic arrests the first six months of the year.

According to reports from the barracks in Quakertown and Langhorne, there were fewer accidents the first six months of this year than during the corresponding period last year.

Cpl. Kenneth Stumpf, who has charge of the Quakertown barracks, reported a property loss the first six months of this year amounted to $41,804. He and his officers made 1,762 traffic arrests, and investigated 87 highway accidents.

During the corresponding period last year they investigated 123 accidents on highways. Six fatalities on highways were investigated the first six months of this year by the Quakertown officers. They arrested five motorists charged with driving while drunk and recovered one stolen car.

The Quakertown officers also made 17 criminal arrests, classified as follows: involuntary manslaughter, 5; assault and battery, 1; larceny, 2; burglary, 1, contributing to the delinquency of a minor, 1, and disorderly conduct, 2. Sgt. Harry C. Dr. Harry L. Keil Gives

LANGHORNE, July 3—At the meeting of Middletown Grange, Wednesday evening, members of the Delaware Valley Grange, Fallington, presented what is known as the "recording hand" program. Dr. Harry L. Keil, a representative of Rohm & Haas, Bristol, gave an interesting talk on plant diseases.

These programs, which are endorsed by the State Grange, are similar in many respects to the traveling gavel programs. At these meetings the proceedings are recorded by the secretaries and later are reported at a meeting of another grange. Middletown Grange will present a report of this meeting at a meeting of Carversville Grange on August 2.

Discussing plant diseases, Dr. Keil explained that farming on a larger scale has a tendency to cause diseases to spread. He stated that plant diseases are spread by many agencies, chief of which is mold.

The most destructive disease among potatoes, he said, is the late blight. Bordeaux mixture, the members were told, serves as a very good control, but has one disadvantage because it clogs the nozzle of the sprayer.

Dr. Keil recommended a commercial insecticide, which, he said, will control most plant disease if applied every five days.

Fruits are also subject to many diseases, and chief among these, said Dr. Keil, is the apple scab. The program also included readings by Herman Heavener, Joseph Winder and Mrs. Joseph Winder.

SATURDAY, JULY 3, 1948

JULY 4, 1948

Tomorrow will be celebrated an event which will be remembered for all time to come by those who believe in America.

It is fitting and proper that the greatest free government should shut down for one day, and pay homage to those, who by their foresight and daring, made possible our freedom and liberty.

Richard Henry Lee of Virginia was the first to voice the desire of the Thirteen Colonies for an independent State. On June 7, 1776, his resolution which was read to the delegates in Congress stated that: "these colonies were and ought to be free and independent." Later, a committee consisting of Jefferson, Franklin, John Adams, Roger Sherman and Robert L. Livingston was appointed to draw up a formal declaration. The actual wording of the famous document was left to Jefferson.

On July 4, 1776, the resolution was laid before Congress, then sitting in Philadelphia and was adopted with very few changes.

The Declaration of Independence marks an epoch in the annals of progress. It signifies the everlasting struggle of mankind for freedom and brotherhood. All that people had ever hoped and prayed for, were declared to the world in this paper. It was first declared that "all men are created equal," that they have a right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," that the right to rule is derived "from the consent of the governed." And to perpetuate and to forever establish this doctrine to the world, these noble men mutually pledged to each other, "their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor."

Whether at the mountains or the shore, whether on the highway or sitting quietly at home, it is fitting that Americans should show with proper respect their devotion to those tenets which have "made and preserved us a nation."

STALIN MEANS BUSINESS

Far from being "a fine fellow," Joe Stalin is up to no good in Berlin. It is evident that General Clay has the situation assayed realistically and that, while holding right, he is waiting for developments.

It is characteristic of "Old Joe" that he is attempting to starve more than 2,000,000 persons in the American and British sectors of Berlin in his attempt to force the American forces out so he can gain control of all of Germany. Human beings more ruthless than Communists—who still have the gall to pretend they are the "friends of the people"—never existed.

The first overt act in Berlin will, of course, depend on Stalin's whim, but no realistic observer today expects him to backtrack from his present course in the former German capital.

Rummy instead of poker is now the favorite card game in this country. In these uncertain times drawing to an inside straight seems to have lost its charm.

SATURDAY, JULY 3, 1948

JULY 4, 1948
Tomorrow will be celebrated an event which will be remembered for all time to come by those who believe in America.

It is fitting and proper that the greatest free government should shut down for one day, and pay homage to those who by their foresight and daring, made possible our freedom and liberty.

Richard Henry Lee of Virginia was the first to voice the desire of the Thirteen Colonies for an Independent State. On June 7, 1776 his resolution which was read to the delegates in Congress stated that: "these colonies were and ought to be free and independent." Later, a committee consisting of Jefferson, Franklin, John Adams, Roger Sherman and Robert L. Livingston was appointed to draw up a formal declaration. The actual wording of the famous document was left to Jefferson.

On July 4, 1776, the resolution was laid before Congress, then sitting in Philadelphia and was adopted with very few changes. The Declaration of Independence marks an epoch in the annals of progress. It signifies the everlasting struggle of mankind for freedom and brotherhood. All that people had ever hoped and prayed for, were declared to the world in this paper. In it was first declared that "all men are created equal," that they have a right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," that the right to rule is derived "from the consent of the governed." And to perpetuate and to forever establish this doctrine to the world, these noble men mutually pledged to each other, "their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor."

Whether at the mountains or the shore, whether on the highway or sitting quietly at home, it is fitting that Americans should show with proper respect their devotion to those tenets which have "made and preserved us a nation."

STALIN MEANS BUSINESS

Far from being "a fine fellow," Joe Stalin is up to no good in Berlin. It is evident that General Clay has the situation assayed realistically and that, while holding tight, he is waiting for developments.

It is characteristic of "Old Joe" that he is attempting to starve more than 2,000,000 persons in the American and British sectors of Berlin in his attempt to force the American forces out so he can gain control of all of Germany. Human beings more ruthless than Communists—who still have the gall to pretend they are the "friends of the people"—never existed.

The first overt act in Berlin will, of course, depend on Stalin's whim, but no realistic observer today expects him to backtrack from his present course in the former German capital.

Runny instead of poker is now the favorite card game in this country. In these uncertain times drawing to an inside straight seems to have lost its charm.

ERRORS OF LEWIS LODGE AID LEGION TEAM IN VICTORY

The Lewis Lodge of Elks committed eleven errors last evening on Memorial Park field as it lost to the Langhorne Legion team, 5-6. The victory put the Legionnaires one game behind the fourth place Hibernians.

"Al" Knox and "Charlie" Martindell hurried for the Langhorne team with Martindell getting credit for the win. Martindell allowed one run and one hit after relieving Knox in the sixth. Knox had eight strikeouts, and Martindell, 5.

Hardy Johnson pitched the entire game for the Elks and despite the errors was holding his own until the seventh when Langhorne scored twice and made victory certain with another pair in the ninth.

Hicks' triple and singles by Ringold, Davis and Anderson gave the users a trio of runs in the sixth.

British Demand That Russians Lift Blockade

The Robertson note—couched in strong language—demanded immediate reopening of the Soviet-blockaded key highway from the British zone city of Helmstedt to Berlin.

The note asked for notification of an estimated date for the reopening of the Helmstedt-Berlin rail line. The Soviets had attributed the rail shutdown to technical difficulties and later promised to reopen the route as soon as possible.

Sokolovsky has contended that western currency reforms necessitated other traffic restrictions and the British note rejected the Russian claim.

Robertson reminded the Soviet Marshal that the Western Occupation powers already have indicated willingness to discuss the currency problems and said that the offer "still holds good."

Robertson also asked assurances that barge traffic across the Soviet zone would not be impeded. Some food-bearing barges have passed Russian check points into western Berlin during the "starvation siege."

Is Pleased With The Boroughs' Response

DOYLESTOWN, July 3.—"I have written 20 boroughs in Bucks county concerning the organizing of a Bucks County Boroughs' Association and have been delighted with the response," said G. Thawley Hayman, president of Doylestown Borough Council, at a meeting this week. Hayman also declared that 40 of the 69 counties in Pennsylvania have very active associations.

President Hayman, who said he has heard from Bristol, Hulmeville, Langhorne, Morrisville, Chalfont, Dublin, Newtown, Perkasie, Quakertown, Sellersville, Yardley and others, explained that four boroughs have not answered his letters. President Hayman said the initial meeting will probably be held sometime in August, emphasized the need for having a county-wide organization so that councilmen can discuss their problems in order to arrive at the best solution.
